Joseph Hayes returns as Visual Caption Manager, Bringing Along Talented Educators

2019 Season Auditions Begin in California and Texas (Brass)

Sacramento, Calif. (11/10/2018) –

Mandarins are thrilled to welcome back Visual Caption Manager, Joseph Hayes. Hayes is bringing in a team of visual instructors that will catapult the Mandarins to new heights.

His first year as Visual Caption Manager in 2018, Joseph brought the corps to another level focusing heavily on the education and quality experience for the members, and will continue to do so in the 2019 season. "I am incredibly grateful to teach alongside this phenomenal group of well rounded experienced educators," says Hayes. "We've brought some amazing instructors back and added some new faces to the mix. As a visual team, we strive to uphold the quality of the technique and mechanics program as well as push the boundaries of creativity and innovation every step of the way. This team will hit the ground running and bring the Mandarins to new heights in 2019."

Program Director Ike Jackson has a lot of faith in the returning visual staff. "I'm extremely excited to have Joseph Hayes on board this year as our Visual Caption Manager," says Jackson. "Last year Joseph took on a humongous task for our organization and showed himself to be a force to be reckoned with in the visual world of drum corps. This year with his team, I believe that this will be the strongest visual program that this organization has ever had."

Corps Director JW Koester is looking forward to the brighter future for the Mandarins. "The visual team was outstanding in 2018 and they absolutely earned the right to return in 2019 to continue their high level of excellence while training the 2019 corps to achieve at the next level of competition," Koester explains. "I am confident that Joseph and his team will continue to hold the corps to a higher standard as the design team provides even greater challenges and opportunities for 2019."
